ELECTION NEWS.

THE TIMES is going to give the people of Roanoke an opportunity to learn the news of the elections on the night of the election. The fine stereopticon which has been giving free exhibitions on Henry street, near THE TIMES building. has been leased for the evening, and its big screen across the street on the side of the Philadelphia Clothing House, will bulletin the election returns as fast as received by THE TIMES.

The evening will not be at all momotonous, for if the returns come in slowly the intervals will be filled in with an extensive series of interesting slides of wide pictorial interest. The first returns will be bulletined about 9:30 Tuesday evening, and the bulletins will be displayed as long as they come.

THE TIMES on Wednesday morning will be the best election paper in the State. It will have all the election news that can be reached by its magnificent press service, and will do as it always does - beat the record.

THE OTHER SIDE.

argument is given a lengthy hearing in THE TIMES this morning. Mr. Saabye is a prominent engineer and his experience entitles him to speak with force and directness.

A single glance at Mr. Hering's plan suggests at once the feasibility of utilizing a drainage line from the neighborhood of the Driving Park to the river, near the West End Furnace, and intercepting no small percentage of the storm water from the West End by a sewer, which could be constructed at low cost, directly south to the river, on the high levels near the line of Ninth avenue. This plan would re-Meve, to a large degree, the much feared storm water flow which is to flood Trout run, and the natural water ways would be able to handle the flood.

Possibly the day may come in the future when the interceptor may be a necessity; but that day is distant, and the building of the interceptor now would seriously limit what is the paramount object of the appropriation-an extensive area of actual house drain-

SOCIETY NEWS AND GOSSIP.

As winter makes its approach, the season for social gaieties is about beginning, and, although all may look cold and wintry outside, there are hostitable departs in the given property of the season pitable doors thrown open to give pleas-ant welcome to one's friends and in-numerable pastimes to make the long winter evenings go speeding by on wings of pleasure.

wings of pleasure.

On Tuesday night, the 27th, the beautifu! home of Mrs. Chas. Gallaher, on Franklin street, was thrown open to receive a few of her friends. The house was brilliantly lighted and decorated, and there under soft lights were assembled youth and beauty, with a charming hostess, who, by her grace and tact, gave pleasure to each guest. Cards were the order of the evening, and the hours passed swiftly until the most were the order of the evening, and the hours passed swiftly until the most recherche of menus was served. Among those present were Misses Kate Bickham, Maude Kent, Bessie Travers, Misses Corse, Hillary Trout and Richardson and Messrs. Fielding Douthat, Montgomery Corse, Ed. Watts, Sidney Wissiger. Parkhurst and Davenport. It is rumored around that before very long the Tuesday Evening Club of last winter will be reorganized under the same management which made it such a grand social success last season.

a grand social success last season.

The Friday German Club will have its regular monthly german at Hotel Roanoke on the first Friday of November. These germans have opened under very pleasant auspices, and will be one of the principal social features of the season. The first one of the club was noted for the grace and beauty there assembled, and was led most artistically by Randolph R. Hicks.

by Randolph R. Hicks.

A "cup and ball" party was given last Friday night at the home of Hon. A. P. Staples to Miss Milly Drewry, of Martinsville. The feature of the evening was the contest for the prize, a handsome cup and saucer, awarded to the one who succeeded the greatest number of times in capturing the ball within the cup. The booby consisted of a large gilt ball. The room was tastefully decorated in hangings of white and yellow, while from the center of the ceiling was suspended with gilt bands a cluster of snowballs and buttercups. The young ladies were all dressed in combinations of the prevailing colors.

The next thing on the programme is the reorganization of the dancing class by Misses Lelia Scott, of Blacksburg, and Annio D. Armistead, formerly of Richmond, now of this city. This class was the source of great pleasure last winter to a large number of young society people, and is looked forward to with the same enthusiasm by all of those who were such regular attendants at its semi-weekly meetings iast season.

The Presbyterians are also getting up an "old folks concert" for the benefit of their new church, and it will be held at the Opera House.

Miss Lelia Scott, of Blacksburg, has located in Roanoke for the winter and will be at Mrs. Dr. Butler's.

Miss Mattie Terry and her sister, Miss Lula, who is a debutante in society, were warmly welcomed back by their large circle of friends after their extended trip abroat this summer.

Miss Mollie Otey, of Lynchburg, is here now and will stay several weeks with her sister, Mrs. Anderson, on Henry Miss Corse, of Alexandria, the attractive sister of Capt. M. B. Corse, of this city, is visiting Mrs. Robert Scott, on Misth America.

Mrs. W. W. Coe has her sister. Miss Bessie Travers, of Charleston, W. Va., spending the winter with her.

On Monday Miss Maggie Ott will return to the city, after a lengthy trip to different parts of Virginia.

Mrs. Teresa Simmons and her daughter, Miss Laura, will leave Roanoke next week to Baltimore. They will be away a month or more.

Col. Tom Lewis has two charming young girls visiting his home, Misses Gray and Agnes Palmer, of Richmond, who are well-known to a very large circle of acquaintances here.

Mr. Jno. Simmons has returned from home for the present.

Miss Fannie Pole has returned home from Baltimore, where she has been spending the last six months.

Mr. C. C. Wentworth returned home with his bride last week and will spend the winter at Hotel Roanoke.

The Anniversary Edition of The Roanoke Times is a well illustrated, handsomely printed 24-page paper. It contains a concise history of the paper from its foundation to the present time, and reflects great credit upon the enterprise of its publishers. The Times has grown to be one of the best and most progressive papers of Virginia, and keeps forging away for the foremost place in Virginia journalism. From the appearance of its advertising columns the paper must be appreciated From the appearance of its advertising columns the paper must be appreciated at home as a medium through which to reach the public. Should Roanoke continue to grow in population and importance as a manufacturing center there is no reason why her papers should not continue to progress until there are none better to be found.

It Speaks Volumes.

From the Richmond time:

The Times has received a copy of the anniversary edition of The Roanoke Times. It is a 24-page paper, giving a history of The Times during the first year of its existence as an eight-page daily, the remarkable progress which has been made by the magic city of Roanoke and the general rapid development of that portion of the State. It is, in a word, a paper which speaks vol. in a word, a paper which speaks vol-umes for its own enterprise and for the push and vim of the people of the com-munity in which it is published. May it celebrate many more anniversaries, and may each be more successful than the one preceding. the one preceding.
